The regional average price has been considered while breaking down the market by end-application in each region. The market size of the global powder metallurgy market has been presented in terms of both volume as well as revenue. Market volume is provided in kilo tons, while market revenue is in USD million. Both domestic and institutional sales of powder metallurgy have been considered. Market numbers are provided based on product types and applications in the context of the global as well as regional market. Market size and forecast for each major application is also provided in the context of the global as well as regional market. Numbers provided in the report are derived based on demand for powder metallurgy from various end-user industries across different regions. The industrial application segment consists of heavy machinery and aerospace applications. All the prices have been considered as FOB prices. Market revenue has been calculated based on sales and consumption trends. All USD exchange rates are as of 2013. Inflation is not a part of pricing; price has been kept constant throughout the forecast period for calculating the market size.

The report provides a decisive view on the powder metallurgy market by segmenting the market based on product types and applications. Product segments analyzed in this report include ferrous, non-ferrous and others (including metal matrix composites and cemented carbides).
